AN EVENING AT COSTCO

The August 5, autocross at the Costco parking lot was actually the caper to a long day of motor sport related activities around the Billings area. From eight am to 5 pm, SCCA took part in a car show at K-mart on the west end to benefit the Billings Motorsport Park. Along with all the other racing groups, clubs, and private parties. The car show netted a donation to BMP of over $3,500.00 dollars. The car show collectively drew seventy cars to display the need for an organization track facility.

That evening, festivities were moved to the Costco parking lot for a nighttime autocross under the lights. Course set up had a slow start do to the many businesses in the area utilizing the parking lot for their overflow traffic. The lot was eventually cleared and the race began at 8:45, just when the lights turned on.

During the car show promotion SCCA advertised twenty free entries to the first twenty people who have never raced with the club before. Of those twenty, we had eight takers. All eight earned their grins as the autocross progressed through the night. New racer Eric Vogt was conjoled for not producing enough tire squeal in his BMW. All that changed on his second run.

Mike Worden, Josh Bourassa and Chad Boerken traded seats in the brown Celica with painted flames on the hood. I'm sure the car felt like blowing flames after the workout it received during the evening. Mike's mother Denise Bourassa was finally talked into trying her luck in her Subaru XT. Look out junior moms a tough competitor.

Kristi Mathson returned to the autocross scene in a Gilliland prepared Z car. She looked all too comfortable in a four wheel drift and too much power didn't seem to be enough. Dwight mentioned "I've created a monster". Dwight also took a turn in Kristi's Z car and produced a noise and smoke display that brought rounds of applause from the spectators. The only time the sound of tire squeal changed was in a turn when he would commence to abuse the other side of the car.

John Small pushed his Porsche in his goat to beat the Grummett Vett, and in fact did just that. Brian Grummett seemed to have a pylon problem that night.

Ron Walker and Dennis McCollough were out testing all the new parts for Black Otter Hillclimb.

Many thanks to all participants and workers that made this event so successful, Dean and Dennis for registration, Dick Hager for announcing and the many people who helped set up and take down the course. We will endeavor to have another night time autocross in the future. We learned alot about the little problems and will work hard to handle them next time.

Bill Schaff-Even Chairman

PS -After several events worth of development and frustration trying to get his Goblin running right, Bill had it all together for the Costco race. Very fast, beautiful to watch runs served notice to others that he's back to compete and deserved the cheers that broke out as he stormed across the finish line. Congratulations Bill!
